4 Corner Passing (Bob Knight)

Frame 1

4 Corner Passing

- When 1st teaching this drill it's best to start with 2 basketballs & work your way up to 3. When using 2 basketballs, put them in the lines diagonal from one another to start

- This is a great drill to get players thinking to start practice or for pre game warm-up's

- We start the drill with 4 lines on each corner of the free throw area. Lines should have players evenly dispersed & we should have at least 8 players to do this drill

- Everyone goes right and passes, gets a pass back THEN DHO's right back with the person who just passed them the ball and goes to the inside of that person & the line. In this example #1 DHO's with #4 on the inside

- #2 passes to #3 line
- #3 passes to #1 line
- #1 passes to #4 line
- #4 passes to #2 line

- Then we switch it up and everyone goes left. We will do this as the drill is going on. We will not stop and reset to start

Show Time Passing Drill

The drill starts with 5 lines & either 1 or 2 balls

- #1 passes ahead to #2 and then runs towards #3 which is diagonal to him/her
- #2 immediately passes the ball back to #1
- #1 then immediately passes to #3 and follows his/her pass and goes behind #3 in that line

- After #2 passed to #3 he/she then immediately cuts in front of the #3 line and #3 then passes to #2
- #2 then passes to #4 and then follows their pass behind to the back of the line

- #3 then cuts in front of #4 & gets the pass back
- #3 immediately passes the ball back to #5
- #3 then follows their pass & goes behind #5's line

- #4 now cuts in front of #5
- #5 then passes to #4 for the lay-up
- #5 follows his/her pass and gets the rebound & gives it to the next person in the baseline line
